Imagine you are a scientist and have invented a new food. What is it? What does it look and taste like?

example:

My new food is a vegetable that tastes like chocolate. It's called "Chonklic". It's pink and yellow to make dishes more colorful. It grows in the ground like a potato, but it has the shape of a long rectangle so it's easy to cut and eat. It's also filled with nutrients so that you don't need to eat any other vegetables if you eat it.
